Bazaars Did Large Business.

Last Friday and Saturday were church bazaar days in Greenville, and the ladies' aid societies of the churches had on display hundreds of articles, and each place did fine business both days, selling most of the offerings, and turning in substantial sums to their treasuries. The Baptist ladies were at McDonald & DeWitt's, the Cumberland party at C. M. Howard's and the Christian bazaar at The J. L. Roark Estate. There was much shopping, and everybody got bargains in price and beautiful articles for Christmas remembrances. To lay our people will have opportunity to patronize the ladies of the Presbyterian church as they will have their bazaar at the Y. M. C. A. gym, and they will have a large and varied collection of desirable items.

Heaviest Snow of the Year Sunday.

Some real winter weather began Sunday, when shortly after Saturday midnight a snow began to fall and by noon, when it stopped, was about six inches deep. It was wet and heavy, and there has not been such an abundance of snow pictures for some years. Much damage was done to trees. The telephone company suffered losses of several thousand dollars, hundreds of poles and wires being snapped, and on this exchange there were almost two hundred telephones out of commission Sunday night. Large crowds of men were put to work all over the county, and in a few days the service will be normal. Telegraph service was also crippled, and trains have been late for several days.

Pioneer Woman Dies.

Mrs. Margaret Pittman Tudor, in her 82nd year, died at her home about four miles northwest of town, at 6:30 o'clock last Saturday morning, from a cancer, from which she had been a sufferer for two years. She was one of the pioneer women of the county, and was widely known and loved. Funeral services were conducted at Old Bethel church by Rev. W. H. Woodson at 11 o'clock Sunday morning, the building filled with relatives and friends. Interment was made in the graveyard nearby, the body being laid to rest beside that of her husband, Rev. Daniel Tudor, who died more than six years ago.

Stockholders Meeting.

There will be held at the office of the First National Bank, at Greenville, Ky., on Tuesday, January 12, 1915, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 11 a. m. an election for the purpose of electing seven directors for the ensuing year.

JNO. T. REYNOLDS, JR., Secty.

Thermometers around town Tuesday morning registered all the way from two above to fifteen degrees below zero. Anyway, it was the coldest morning we have had in three years, and everybody will agree to that.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to extend our heartfelt thanks to our many friends who so generously aided us in our affliction, and pray that God's richest blessings may rest upon them.

MR. AND MRS. HOMER PARKER.

Local talent distinguished itself last Saturday night in the comedy "All a Mistake," given at the school auditorium. The audience enjoyed the presentation, and the Cumberland Presbyterian church treasury was enlarged by the receipts, the play being given under its auspices.

City Levy, 1915.

The City Council of Greenville, Kentucky do ordain as follows:

It is ordered by the City Council of the city of Greenville, Kentucky, that for the purpose of paying off any existing indebtedness of said city, and for the purpose of building and improving the streets therein and paying the salaries and fees of the officials of said city, and for the purpose of paying all the necessary current expenses of said city not herein set forth, there be and is hereby levied and imposed a poll tax of $1.50 on each and every male inhabitant of said city over the age of twenty-one years. Also, that there be and is hereby levied and imposed an ad valorem tax of 75c. on each and every ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS in value of the taxable property, whether real, personal or mixed, within said city, whether belonging to natural persons, corporations or associations, assessed for said purposes and as shown by the revised Assessor's books and the report of the Board of Supervisors of said city for the year 1915. And it is further ordered by the City Council of the city of Greenville that the Marshal of said city collect said taxes and pay the same over to the Treasurer of the City of Greenville. The said Marshal shall give bond as required by law in such cases made and provided before he undertakes the collection of said taxes.

Approved Dec. 14, 1914.

ORLEN L. ROARK, Clerk.

Notice.

The City Council of Greenville, Kentucky, do ordain as follows:

That all claims hereafter allowed by the Council against the city of Greenville shall bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum from the date of issue by the Clerk of the City Council of a certificate evidencing such claim to the date of the payment thereof by the City Treasurer. The City Clerk is now directed when he shall issue certificate evidencing claims allowed by the City Council to indorse thereon the fact that said certificate shall bear interest from the date thereof at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum until the date of the payment by the City Treasurer.

Approved Dec. 14, 1914.

Orlen L. Roark, Clerk.

Wreck at Central City.

A head-on collision between two freight trains, Nos. 51 and 1595, occurred in the south yards of the Illinois Central, Central City, at 7 o'clock Sunday evening in which Willard Jenkins, conductor on manifest freight No. 51, was killed, fireman James Murphy suffered a broken arm, and Bright Duffer, colored, a brakeman, had both legs cut off. Just how the accident occurred has not been ascertained, as Engineer Trantham and Edgar Denton, fireman on 1595, were both seriously cut and bruised in the wreck. No. 51, which goes south, was making up and was just ready to attach the engine to the train when extra No. 1595, northbound, entered the yards. Edgar Evitts, engineer on 51, kept his seat and was uninjured. Jenkins and Duffer were caught between the engine and the tender. The crew of train No. 51 were all of Central City except Evitts, who is from Paducah.

There is a reported outbreak of smallpox in the county, many sections being affected. All cases are in light form, and prompt and general preventive measures have been taken. Doctors have vaccinated hundreds of persons during the past week.

The chapel exercises at the graded school Tuesday morning were given by the children of the second grade, under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Cecil E. Roark. The program was an excellent one, and splendidly given. The "Rose Drill" was beautiful, and rather intricate for little ones, but was given without a hitch.

Attend the bazaar given today by the ladies' aid society of the Presbyterian church at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. There will be hundreds of pretty and useful items, suitable for Christmas gifts, and the prices will all be extremely reasonable.

Buy a solid red cedar chest from Roark. It may save its cost in one year, and will be lifetime pleasure to the owner. Several sizes and kinds in stock, from $12 to $18 in price.

The Central Life Insurance Co., of Kentucky has received applications since January 1 amounting to more than $12,000,000

Which is three times as much as has been received by any other company operating in this State. For further particulars see or address

Card of Thanks.

I feel deeply grateful to many loyal friends who extended assistance and sympathy in my hours of anxiety and sorrow. Such acts have impressed me more than words can express, but I shall never forget the kindly ministrations.

Mrs. W. J. Moore.

Rev. J. T. Barbee has been here a few days with old time friends and admirers. Sunday he occupied the pulpit at the Cumberland church morning and evening, and was greeted by large numbers of old friends. He has served this church effectively for a long period, and his members were all delighted to have him back again for a visit, as it has been some years since he has been here.

Mesdames Chas. W. Roark and H. O. Meredith have been in Owensboro this week, guests of Mrs. Dr. J. M. Stuart.

Mr. Marvin Wells was here from Louisville for the week end, visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Wells.

ROARK.

William Jefferson Moore.

Mr. W. J. Moore died at his home here at 2:30 o'clock last Sunday afternoon, from a complication of troubles, which for two weeks had confined him to his bed. He had for a long while been a sufferer from Bright's disease, and erysipelas developed, his condition being serious for a week before death. Mr. Moore was a native of Tennessee, moving here with his wife from Lawrenceburg, that state, about a year ago. He was an industrious, progressive man, kindly, thoughtful, considerate, and made a wide circle of friends here. He was a man of exemplary habits, a devoted supporter of his church, liberal and upright in all his actions. A short service was held at his home at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon, conducted by his pastor, Rev. J. R. McFee, of the Methodist church, who was assisted by Rev. Robt. H. Tandy, pastor of the Baptist church. Interment was made in the Crittenden graveyard, near Woodson church. His widow has the sympathy of relatives and friends.

Roark has hundreds of items which will beautifully and substantially answer that question "What shall I give for Christmas?"

The board of city tax supervisors will meet in the court house next Monday and Tuesday, to hear complaints from the hundred and a half taxpayers who are considered to have valued too lightly their holdings.

The zero weather of the past few days has put plumbing out of commission in dozens of homes in town, and plumbers are working overtime.

Uncle Sam is urging people to mail their Christmas remembrances early. Many persons will be made happy if they get anything at the last minute.

Lest You Forget, We Say It L: Let us sell you that wallpaper, you will want to tighten and brighten your home for winter. Marvelous values, large, snappy stock right here for your selection. When you see how little the cost, you will buy.

STRAWBERRIES.

Early season, when berries are a very few used for a garnish or in pleasing combinations with other dishes will not make expensive dishes. Cold molded rice with strawberry sauce is always delicious. A cereal pudding using cream of wheat or farina, molded and served with the sauce, is also very good.

The strawberry shortcake is the national dish which everybody likes. To make it, use a rich biscuit dough without sugar, or, if any, not more than a teaspoonful. Make the shortcake and roll out a half-inch thick. Spread with butter and place the other half on top, so that when they are baked there will be no rough, broken edges which are apt to come when cutting, to say nothing of making the cake soggy.

There are so many delicious strawberry and gelatin combinations that one will make no mistake in serving any of them.

Strawberry Salad.—Wash and hull the berries and cut them in halves lengthwise and let stand 30 minutes in a honey salad dressing in a cold place. Drain and arrange on lettuce leaves and serve at once. To make the honey salad dressing use: Two tablespoonsful of honey, three of olive oil and one and a half of lemon juice, a dash of salt and cayenne if liked. Beat until frothy.

Frozen Strawberry Fruit Cup.—Take one cupful of cubed pineapple, one of cut orange, one-half cupful of water and sugar boiled together five minutes. Mix the fruits and sirup when cold and let stand half an hour or longer to blend. Make an ice of a pint of strawberries, a cupful of sugar and a cupful of warm water. Hash the berries with the sugar and let stand half an hour. Rub through a sieve, adding the water to hurry the process; freeze. Half fill sherbet glasses with this and hollow the center to heap the fruit mixture. Put piped whipped sweetened cream over the top and finish with a whole berry.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

It is difficult to be always true to ourselves, to be always what we wish to be, what we feel we ought to be. As long as we feel that, as long as we do not surrender the ideal of our life, all is right. Our aspirations represent the true nature of our soul much more than our every-day life.—Max Muller.

Yet it is by our lives we are known and judged.

GOOD THINGS TO EAT.

While bran bread is so popular with many people it may be well to have a good recipe which has been tried and is well liked.

Bran Bread.—Take three cupfuls of bran, a cupful of graham, a half-cupful of sour, a teaspoonful of salt, a teaspoonful of soda dissolved in three-fourths of a cupful of molasses, one cupful of raisins, dates or figs or a mixture of the three, two cupfuls of sweet milk, stir and let stand a half-hour to let the soda act on the mixture, as it does not make it light enough without. Bake in a large loaf two hours.

Nut Loaf.—To two cupfuls of mixed nut meats, using Brazil, pecans and peanuts, add one-half a teaspoonful of salt, nut stir in six finely chopped bananas; when well blended press into a mold and steam steadily for three hours. Cook on ice and serve in slices. For sandwich filling sprinkle over a few drops of catsup on each slice.

Chopped Steak en Casserole.—Put two cupfuls of chopped steak in the center of a casserole, flavor with celery, salt, pepper, mace and a little mushroom catsup or Worcestershire sauce. Surround the steak with a cupful of pearl barley, pour two cupfuls of boiling water over it and bake in a moderate oven for one and a half hours. Keep closely covered while cooking. Just before serving cover with a brown gravy or tomato sauce.

June Salad Dressing.—Use any fruit combination with this: Beat the white of one egg, add two tablespoonfuls of sugar, one tablespoonful of lemon juice, one of orange juice and a third as much whipped cream as there is of the mixture. Serve very cold.

Portuguese Eggs.—Peel ripe, round tomatoes and scoop out a small hole large enough to hold an egg. Drop in an uncooked egg; dust with salt and pepper and grate cheese, with bits of butter. Bake until the egg is set.

TO BUILD CONCRETE HOTBED

Concise Directions Given for Four-Sash Bed Which Can Be Extended to Any Length.

We referred recently to the concrete hotbeds now built by florists and vegetable growers. The following directions are given for a four-sash bed, which of course could be extended to any length desired. A standard hotbed sash is three by six feet. Lay out the bed six feet eight inches wide by 21 feet 10 inches long. The concrete walls are six inches thick. Dig the foundation trenches two feet six inches deep within the lines given above. Make forms of one-inch lumber to carry the south (front) wall six inches and the north (back) wall 14 inches above ground, says the Rural New Yorker. Forms are not required below ground level. The tops of the end walls slope to the others. Before filling the forms with concrete test the dimensions of the bed by means of the sash. See that the sash lay the forms two inches on all sides.

Mix the concrete mushy wet in the proportion of one bag of cement to 2½ cubic feet of sand to five cubic feet of crushed rock, or one bag of cement to five cubic feet of bank-run gravel. Fill the forms without stopping for anything. Tie the walls together at the corners by laying in them old iron rods bent to right angles.

Frame Grooved Sash.

While placing the concrete set ½ inch bolts about two feet apart to hold the wooden top-frames of the bed to the concrete; or make grooves in the top of the concrete for counter-sinking the sash to the level of the walls with an allowance of one-quarter inch for clearance. This can be done by temporarily imbedding in the concrete wooden strips of the necessary dimensions. During this operation, by means of blocks nailed to the strips, make provision for the center bars described below. Remove the strips as soon as the concrete stiffens. Take down the forms after five days. The extra 2½ inches in length of the bed is allowance for the three center bars between the sashes. These sash supports are of dressed one-inch stuff, shaped like a capital "T" turned upside down. The length of the stem of the "T" is equal to the thickness of the sash and the top is three inches wide. Sufficient materials for the concrete will be supplied by 14 bags of cement, 1½ cubic yards of sand and 2½ cubic yards of crushed rock; or 14 bags of cement and 2½ yards of pit gravel at a cost of $10.

PAYS TO FERTILIZE MEADOW

Increase in the Yield of Hay Estimated From Three-Quarters to One Ton Per Acre.

Several years ago when cutting hay next to a patch of wheat in the same field, I noticed that the hay adjoining the wheat was much heavier in weight of a drill than elsewhere, writes F. P. Gerlach in the Michigan Farmer. In fact, there was so much difference that I began to study out the reason, which explained itself simply enough.

In drilling the wheat the fall before with 250 pounds of 2-8-2 fertilizer per acre, and running the drill out on the meadow, there would be from two to four feet of meadow fertilized while in going back the drill would not be set in gear until at the edge of the wheat field, consequently every other width of the drill would show a marvelous difference in the grass.

This set me to thinking that it would be a good investment to fertilize meadows, and the following fall I fertilized five acres with the same result, raising the disks and drilling the fertilizer over the top, and since then we have been doing so, and I am satisfied we harvest from three-quarters to one ton of hay per acre more where we use the fertilizer. The fertilizer can be sown late in the fall before the snow covers the ground, or in the early spring.

Success With Cattle.

Said Prof. J. M. Truman, of the State Agricultural college: "If success has been obtained in one breed of cattle, stick to that breed." President W. H. Lee advises that the summer allow should largely take the place of the pastures after June. He predicted a great increase in the average grain yield and in the culture of alfalfa. He thought that many farmers in remote districts would do better in raising good cows to sell than shipping milk, cream or butter.

Egg Yield and the Feed.

The egg yield can be controlled by the feed and manner of feeding. When fresh-laid eggs have an offensive odor when broken or cooked, it is time to examine the quality of food the hens are getting. Onions, fish, manure piles and the like have a strong tendency to cause a bad smell and flavor in eggs.

Diseased Trees.

It is well to remember that the old and diseased trees not only take up valuable space in the orchard, but they are liable to spread disease among the healthy trees, and they always harbor pests that are injurious to the entire orchard.

A POSTPONED ROMANCE

By JEAN SHEAR.

"What made you ask me to marry you?" inquired the bride, as one asks what the weather is likely to be. "Why," the bride's husband paused. "I guess it was because you were looking around and picked me out."

"No," replied the bride, meditatively. "It could not have been just that, because Miss Mary McGee's been picking out husbands for 20 years, and she'd just quit that unprofitable occupation and had begun to be happy, when she found him!"

"Who's this Miss Mary McGee?" "She's just Miss Mary McGee!" the bride laughed. "I don't know how I can explain more, if that doesn't tell you! She's the woman down the block who lives with the children and they all call her Miss Mary McGee. So every one else does! She's been with the children until she's just like one—but she didn't begin until she'd given up the hope of getting married, you know."

"How interesting," commented the man.

"Yes, but she's had a genuine romance! You see it got out, naturally," said the bride, taking a deep breath to mark the beginning of the story. "Through the children that Miss McGee wasn't invited to Jane Benton's wedding, because she was needed by some one or other to take care of the children. And no one thought she'd think anything of it! But the children talked it over before her, and her feelings were hurt. She imagined that she had become nothing but a nursemaid in the eyes of the world, and gave up her play with the children!

"Mr. Manning Was Interesting."

"So she shut herself up in the house and wouldn't have anything to do with anyone!" "Miss McGee's tall and angular, and sort of eccentric looking, but she's got an awfully sweet nature, and every one was sorry that her feelings were hurt. However, she wouldn't let any one console her, or explain.

"Then one day old Lawyer Manning passed the house and, hearing music, he went up. She was so surprised at his visit that she let him in, and what do you suppose she was doing? She had saved a lot of newspaper articles on how to dance the tango, and she was learning it from them, playing until she had a tune in mind and then singing for the dancing!"

"And so Manning is the happy individual?" anticipated the husband.

"Now, you just wait till I finish!" finished the bride. "Mr. Manning was interested in the tango and Miss Mary McGee promised to teach him all about it. So he went almost every afternoon.

"And then the minister, who every one says was fond of Miss Mary McGee years ago, called. Of course, his visit occurred when Mr. Manning was there, and it sort of woke him up. I guess he'd been thinking Miss Mary McGee would always be there, and there was no hurry about asking her. Anyway, he began to call frequently, and Miss Mary McGee always let them come in, and they remained hours and hours, each trying to outstay the other, and thus got the opportunity to propose, I guess! But they always had to go away together, for neither would give in!

"And actually Miss Mary McGee got so pretty with the activity and excitement—"

"But which one got her?" interrupted the man.

"Why, that's the romance of it!" triumphed the bride. "They'd been calling for about a month, steadily, almost every afternoon, and then one day the minister brought along his brother, who was visiting him, because he couldn't leave his visitor at home, and he wouldn't let Mr. Manning get the advantage of a call alone!"

"And the minister's brother had the wit to invite her out. And he proposed right away, and now they're married!"—Chicago Daily News.
